Writing the statistical procedures in code made them harder to understand.